

CREATING FUTURES PROGRAM SUMMARY

The CompTIA Educational Foundation is focused on changing individuals lives for the better. Resources are provided to help prepare thousands of individuals who have historically been underrepresented in the IT field; become qualified, productive and valuable contributors to the industry.

The Creating Futures program was developed to provide transitioning U.S. Veterans with the opportunity to obtain employable skills in order to achieve rewarding careers in the IT industry. The program provides instructor-led training and online training depending upon geographical location. Participants enrolled in the online training have access to:

- 24x7 Online Training
- Mentoring Services
- Practice Exams, and
- Certification Vouchers

The Program is made possible through affiliations with member companies and not-for-profit partners to help individuals gain the skills for permanent employment. The Creating Futures program works with employers, training providers, and government agencies to develop model programs. These programs include career prep, education, certification and skill validation to produce properly skilled, diverse workers for the latest, in-demand jobs and placement. Employer participants make Creating Futures possible by providing on the job training for program recipients and permanent employment.

About the CompTIA Educational Foundation

Established in 1998 the CompTIA Educational Foundation continues its mission to develop qualified and productive entry level IT workers with the hopes of eliminating the skill shortages within the industry. The Foundation receives support from individuals, industry leaders, and companies, through contributions and grants, giving thousands of people opportunities to pursue IT careers.

Enabling people to change their lives for the better while helping the IT industry grow.

“The online training that the Creating Futures Program gave me the idea of the challenges of the IT Industry and given me the confidence that I have the tools necessary to use these in the field.”

Graham Donovan
U.S. Army Veteran
Creating Futures Participant

“I think the value of the Creating Futures program is that it gives a military member the opportunity to catch up with today’s technology.”

FCPO Tony Edward Brown
